

Galerie

Live Artfully

CREATIVE MINDS

Today's Most Astonishing
Innovators in the
Worlds of Art, Design,
Jewelry, and More

SPRING 2025, ISSUE N° 39
GALERIEMAGAZINE.COM

North of Palm Beach, Florida, Smith and Moore Architects enveloped a spa bath's Zen massage area in a beautiful silver travertine and added a deep soaker tub made of teak.

Perfect Form

Considering that even the most well-designed equipment can still look uninspiring, decorators emphasize the power of wrapping the room itself in beautiful textures. "The gym is getting equivalent attention as far as materials and really making it fit with the quality of everything else in the home," says Daniel Kahan, principal at Smith and Moore Architects in West Palm Beach, Florida.

In the area's Seminole Landing neighborhood, the studio covered the walls of a home spa in a glorious silver travertine. "We're using it really simply and allowing it to be additive to the space as opposed to just background," says Kahan of the stone, which takes on a jewel box glow with thoughtfully orchestrated ceiling and floor lights. A deep soaking tub made of teak brings warmth, complementing the room's neutral, natural palette.

Mesa Mandrel sconce by HAMMERTON STUDIO; studio.hammerton.com

Kaden bench by JOON LOLOI; joonloli.com

Goldmine accent table by BARBARA BARRY for BAKER; bakerfurniture.com

Artisan stone slab by NEOLITH; neolith.com

Harmonie tumbler by BACCARAT; baccarat.com

LP Venice slipper loafers by LORO PIANA; loropiana.com

The Bestwood X head floor standing bath and shower mixer by MARTIN BRUDNIZKI for DRUMMONDS; drummonds-uk.com

Arise sauna by KLAFS; klafsusa.com

CLOCKWISE FROM TOP RIGHT: ERIC PIASECKI; COURTESY OF BAKER FURNITURE; COURTESY OF KLAFS; COURTESY OF DRUMMONDS; COURTESY OF LORO PIANA; COURTESY OF NEOLITH; COURTESY OF HAMMERTON STUDIO; COURTESY OF JOON LOLOI